Check your supplier stability and reliability

Make sure you can depend on your suppliers

Your suppliers can seriously affect the quality of your products / services and your ability to deliver on your promises. If a supplier lets you down, you let your customers down. This can damage your business's reputation and delay important payments. Choosing a supplier without seeing their business report could cost you valuable customers, time and money.

A supplier check can help you choose the right people to work with

Business Check from Experian allows you to take an inside look at your current or potential suppliers

A business report lets you check suppliers by seeing information on:

- The stability of suppliers by seeing their credit score
- Ability of the suppliers to provide a quality service, in both the medium and long term
- The future reliability of suppliers with alerts on significant changes in your customer's credit profile

With accurate information on a supplier profile, you can make the right choices for your business.
